

Supporting schools in ensuring the health and safety of their students

We support schools to ensure the health and safety of students always remains a top priority.

One of our principal clients
Abu Dhabi Vocational Education and Training Institute (ADVETI)

Responding to the unique physical and mental health needs of adolescents requires a model of care that is both accessible and youth-friendly.

We recognise that the proper provision of student healthcare presents unique challenges, particularly sensitivity and understanding. Hence, we work very closely with schools and other educational institutions to develop superior and specific healthcare solutions that meet the needs of youth.

It is an approach that offers positive benefits to the community. A well-cared-for student is committed to the centre of learning and an ideal learner.

Therefore, we support schools to ensure the health and safety of students always remains a top priority.

Additionally, access to school healthcare eases pressure on emergency rooms, results in fewer hospitalisations and boosts primary care.

This is a shared responsibility and we are committed to co-delivering it with our schools and educational establishments.
